

WELCOME

we're so glad you're here!

Fifth grade is off to a fantastic start! The students are adjusting nicely to hybrid learning and are learning so many new things!

In math, we are beginning our unit on decimals. In reading, we are learning the features of non-fiction text. In writing, we are finishing up our personal narratives. In science, we are finishing up our Earth & Sun unit and will be moving on to our Mixtures & Solutions module soon. In social studies, we have been learning about the indigenous people of America and will be beginning to learn about the exploration and colonization of the Western Hemisphere.
